

Large Area Telescope (LAT)

The primary instrument of the GLAST satellite is the Large Area Telescope. Its measurements will enable scientists to determine the energy and location in the sky of gamma rays.

Active Galaxy

At the center of an Active Galaxy lies a monster: a supermassive black hole. Active Galaxies with jets, like the one shown here in an artist's illustration, are sites of gamma ray formation.

